OFFICE OF BOSTON CITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT MAUREEN E. FEENEY

MEMORANDUM

TO: Councillors and Council Staff
FROM: Council President Maureen E. Feeney
DATE: September 30, 2008
RE: Boston Public Schools Reprogramming and Consolidation

As you are aware, Superintendent Carol Johnson is set to announce her plans for a reprogramming and consolidation in the Boston Public Schools during a meeting of the school committee tomorrow. I expect that this announcement will result in calls and correspondence to our offices. I have asked that the Superintendent keep the council well informed of her plans. Specifically, the school department will:

- Transmit to the Council a detailed packet of information on the proposed plan by Thursday morning once it has been presented to the School Committee
- Provide the Council with a list of dates and times of parent meetings regarding the plan which you or your offices may wish to attend.
- Formally present the plan at a City Council public hearing and answer questions from councillors. Education Committee Chair Chuck Turner has scheduled the hearing for October 21st at 12:30pm.

I hope these and other efforts will help to keep you and your staff informed of this plan. Other arrangements may be made if necessary. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you.

Dorchester Illustration of the Day no. 920

Hendry Street, which leads off Bowdoin Street at Eaton Square, has been much in the news due to the number of foreclosures and city efforts to ease the life of tenants left behind. Today's photo shows the street in the days before three deckers. The large building at the end was a Consumptives□ Home with a driveway from Quincy Street. The sign on the building says □Michael S. Burns, Fine Shoe Repairing. □

Pedro,

Max is so lucky to have such a loyal friend who's so full of supportive ideas. I will certainly plan now to buy lots of books to give as gifts for Christmas. Of course Max's sister has a new book out too so it looks like we are going to have to double our effort!

All the best,
Melody

Subject: Max Kennedy's new book

Dear Friends: My name is Pedro Mezquita, some of you probably know me or have heard about me. I am Max's friend from Venezuela, I went to Harvard with him and I have kept close to him all these years. I am Noah's godfather

(-pity her-)

I took one of Max's e mails and copied all your addresses as I imagine all of you care as much as I do for Max's well being ...and future mental health.

As you all probably know Max new book: " DANGER'S HOUR. THE STORY OF THE USS BUNKER HILL AND THE KAMIKAZE PILOT WHO CRIPPLED HER" is coming out on November 11, 2008 and he has dedicated the past 6 years to writing this book. I have been thinking how we can all help Max to make this book a success, and I have a very simple plan and proposition: I think all of us should buy at least 100 books (it's priced at $30 but there is a lower price of about $13 in Amazon) and give it as a present to our friends families or colleagues this coming Christmas / Hannukkah/ Thanksgiving/Kwanzaa or whatever festivities we want to celebrate. By doing this we will not only increase its sales (there is about 100 people copied on this mail) but by doing that we can also help the book make it to the New York Times top list and THAT will boost sales!

As some of you may know I have produced a couple of (very bad) movies (max even played on one) but I have been incredible successful in promoting them with the help of my friends. I am not very clear where/ and how we should order the books so that those sales qualify for the NYTimes list but I would suggest buying small quantities from different sources / and large bookstores that would probably be the ones that report such sales.

You could all help even more if you forward this idea to other friends of Max you know and that are not copied on this mail, please excuse me for having sent this spam, I usually never do it but I thought this was a good occasion

I am planning to buy 200 books, and very few of my friends down here in Venezuela even speak English HU HU!

Saludos

Subject: loaner bike

Michael,

I was thinking the Specialized Sequoia Elite would be a nice bike for Eileen to ride, it has a nice upright riding position for comfort, but gives her an idea of what you can do on a road bike. Did you plan on bringing her by to pick it up? It sounds like the Matt Bracken from Pedros would like to bring the Mayor's bike in on Friday if that works for you - I could probably convince him to drop of the Sequoia as well, to save you a trip. Otherwise if you want to bring Eileen here we can get everything set up for you.

On another topic, one of the HOW interns said the city was going ahead with the promoters from Portland for the Triathlon, is that true?

Let me know what works best for you regarding the bikes, and if there is anything else you need.

Talk to you later,
Gary

P.S. Tell Cathy it's never too late to get a bike!

1. Hall of Fame jockeys set to visit Suffolk Wednesday

By Paul Halloran

The Daily Item of Lynn

EAST BOSTON -Collectively, they won more than 25,000 races, amassed more than $700 million in purse earnings, captured 23 Breeders' Cup and 16 Triple Crown races and won 12 Eclipse Awards. They ran 1-2-3 in the inaugural Breeders' Cup Classic in 1984. They all rank among the top 10 jockeys of all time.

And they will be at Suffolk Downs Wednesday.

Pat Day, Laffit Pincay Jr. and Angel Cordero will be at the track from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. to kick off an 11-city Breeders' Cup Legends Tour that culminates with a Legends race on Oct. 18 at Santa Anita, the site of the 25th renewal of the Breeders' Cup Oct. 24-25.

Suffolk Downs fans will have a chance to meet the jockeys, get autographs and participate in a Q&A with them.

"I think it's going to be a great time," Day said by telephone Monday. "I always enjoyed meeting the fans."

Day, who won the inaugural Breeders' Cup Classic aboard Wild again - followed by Cordero on Slew of Gold and Pincay on Gate Dancer - said when the Breeders' Cup started, with seven races worth a total of $10 million on one day, he thought that was optimistic. He could never have imagined it would grow to the current format of 14 races over two days, worth more than $25 million.

"All the races are the best of the best," said Day, who won 12 Breeders' Cup races and nine Triple Crown races among his 8,804 trips to the winner's circle. "It's two days of unbelievable racing,"

Day, who said he rode at Suffolk Downs briefly in 1974, said the Wild Again victory was "singularly responsible for catapulting my career to the next level." A devout born-again Christian, he has been involved with the Race Track Chaplaincy of America since 1984, even more so since he retired in 2005. He proudly noted there are currently 77 chaplains at 117 racetracks and training centers in North America.

As for the potential Big Brown vs. Curlin dream matchup in this year's Classic, Day said he will take Curlin. "If I were in a position to choose, I would absolutely choose Curlin," he said.

First post Wednesday is 12:45 p.m.

2. 2 threats to dog racing: Mass. vote, low interest

By STEVE LeBLANC

BOSTON (AP) Voters in Massachusetts will soon decide whether greyhound racing should continue there, though the real question might be whether the once-popular sport dies a quick death or a slow one.

Across the country, the legions of blue-collar fans the industry relied on have been lured away by casinos, lotteries, online gambling and other forms of betting.

Track owners fighting the proposed ban fiercely oppose claims that the dogs are mistreated. But animal-welfare issues aside, others involved in greyhound racing glumly concede a cultural shift away from the sport.

"It's certainly changing," said Gary Guccione, executive director of the National Greyhound Association. "It has downsized in recent years. We've seen a decrease in the number of tracks and dogs being bred."

In the 1980s there were more than 50,000 greyhounds bred each year to race at about 60 tracks nationwide, Guccione said. This year, the number of dogs will drop to under 20,000 and the number of tracks has been cut almost in half.

Since the end of 2004 alone, 13 U.S. tracks have closed or ended live dog racing, according to the Committee to Protect Dogs, which is leading the campaign for the Massachusetts ban. It has raised nearly $400,000 since January 2007, nearly 10 times as much as opponents of the ban have raised.

Racing fans still come to sit at tables in front of television monitors at Wonderland Greyhound Park in Revere, one of the state's two dog tracks. Live racing won't resume until the spring, but they can still wager on races elsewhere via simulcast.

It's a far cry from the 22,607 fans who filled Wonderland on May 16, 1945, when the track set its single performance attendance record or the day in June 1939 when 1,500 people packed a dinner at Boston's Copley Plaza to honor Rural Rube, who had just won 19 races in a single season.

If the ban passes, Massachusetts will join seven states that already ban live greyhound racing: Idaho, Maine, North Carolina, Nevada, Vermont, Virginia and Washington, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures.

Gary Temple, general manager Raynham Greyhound Park in Raynham, is leading the opposition to the ballot question. He calls backers "zealots" who are misleading the public about track conditions and the treatment of dogs.

Temple said handlers and owners have invested time and money in the dogs and the tracks are some of the most highly regulated industries in the state.

"I am animal lover myself and I would never allow an animal to be mistreated here," he said. "There's a lot of passion and love that these trainers give their dogs. They are family members."

Of all the claims made by the tracks, the most contentious is the statement repeated by Temple that they have achieved a 100 percent adoption rate for their dogs once their racing days are over.

Backers of the question say it's untrue. They point to statistics reported by the tracks to the state racing commission that show just 31 percent of dogs were adopted in 2007, while 55 percent went on to race at other tracks. The remaining dogs went back to their owners, to breeding farms and a handful less than 1 percent were euthanized.

Activists say there's no way to monitor what happens to the dogs sent to tracks in other states and even Temple concedes that "after they go to another track it's up to that track."

Christine Dorchak, one of the organizers of the question, said dog racing is particularly cruel for greyhounds.

"These dogs are very gentle and very fragile," she said. "When eight of them are put in a pack and trained to run after the same object they can be injured very easily. It's basically putting these dogs on a collision course."

Dorchak's group has documented what they said are hundreds of cases of dogs being injured at Massachusetts tracks since 2002, when the state first required tracks to report injuries. The injuries range from scrapes and cuts to broken bones.

Dorchak said the new statistics have strengthened the case for closing the tracks since 2000, when a similar ballot question lost narrowly.

Closing the tracks could mean the loss of about 1,000 jobs associated with dog racing, according to Temple. Dorchak called any loss regrettable, but added, "Our economy should not be built on cruelty to dogs."

Subject: Max Kennedy's new book

Dear Friends: My name is Pedro Mezquita, some of you probably know me or have heard about me. I am Max's friend from Venezuela, I went to Harvard with him and I have kept close to him all these years. I am Noah's godfather (-pity her-)

I took one of Max's e mails and copied all your addresses as I imagine all of you care as much as I do for Max's well being ...and future mental health.

As you all probably know Max new book: " DANGER'S HOUR. THE STORY OF THE USS BUNKER HILL AND THE KAMIKAZE PILOT WHO CRIPPLED HER" is coming out on November 11, 2008 and he has dedicated the past 6 years to writing this book. I have been thinking how we can all help Max to make this book a success, and I have a very simple plan and proposition: I think all of us should buy at least 100 books (it's priced at $30 but there is a lower price of about $13 in Amazon) and give it as a present to our friends families or colleagues this coming Christmas / Hannukkah/ Thanksgiving/Kwanzaa or whatever festivities we want to celebrate. By doing this we will not only increase its sales (there is about 100 people copied on this mail) but by doing that we can also help the book make it to the New York Times top list and THAT will boost sales!

As some of you may know I have produced a couple of (very bad) movies (max even played on one) but I have been incredible successful in promoting them with the help of my friends. I am not very clear where/ and how we should order the books so that those sales qualify for the NYTimes list but I would suggest buying small quantities from different sources / and large bookstores that would probably be the ones that report such sales.

You could all help even more if you forward this idea to other friends of Max you know and that are not copied on this mail, please excuse me for having sent this spam, I usually never do it but I thought this was a good occasion

I am planning to buy 200 books, and very few of my friends down here in Venezuela even speak English HU HU!

Saludos

Dorchester Illustration of the Day no. 920

Hendry Street, which leads off Bowdoin Street at Eaton Square, has been much in the news due to the number of foreclosures and city efforts to ease the life of tenants left behind. Today's photo shows the street in the days before three deckers. The large building at the end was a Consumptives' Home with a driveway from Quincy Street. The sign on the building says "Michael S. Burns, Fine Shoe Repairing."

The Dorchester Illustration of the Day (DIOTD) is sent weekdays. If you receive this e-mail by mistake, please reply to be taken off the e-mail list. If you know others who would like to receive the daily e-mail, please let me know. Earl Taylor

If you value receiving the DIOTD, please express your appreciation by making a donation to the Dorchester Historical Society, either by regular mail at 195 Boston Street, Dorchester, MA 02125, or through the website at www.DorchesterHistoricalSociety.org

MESSAGE:Dear Elections Officer I need your help. I am currently studying mayoral elections and a colleague suggested I look at how much each candidate spent on their election. Press reports from several municipal elections indicate that some cities collect this information. Do you have the final information about how much each candidate for mayor ultimately spent in the 2001 Boston primary and runoff or general election (Menino is electe)? If so I would be extremely grateful if you could tell me where on your web sight this information is posted or email the information to me if that is easier. Thank you four your assistance. Good afternoon, I hope you are enjoying a wonderful Fall so far.

On behalf of Mayor Thomas M. Menino and the City of Boston, I am writing to invite you to the New Bostonians Summit Kick-Off event to be held on Friday, October 17, from 8:30am-10am at the New England Room, Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, 600 Atlantic Avenue.

The goals of the Summit and its planning process are to: bring attention and resources to the 3 key issues-English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) , Jobs, and K-12 Education; foster collaboration among leaders across the 7 sectors- immigrant communities leaders/organizations, mainstream advocates, businesses, philanthropies, higher education, labor and government; facilitate agreement on targeted efforts and develop concrete action plans in each issue area; promote investments in New Bostonians communities from businesses and funders; and to ensure sustainability and structure to implement plans and strategies developed.

As part of the planning process, three Strategic Leadership Teams (SLTs) will be made up of key stakeholders from the 7 sectors named above and based on the research data and community recommendations MONB collected, draft action plans and strategies to address the 3 key issues. The goals and plans developed by the 3 SLTs (ESOL, Jobs, and Education) will be presented at The New Bostonians Summit held on Tuesday, March 31 2009, time and location TBD.

It will be wonderful if you could join us at the Kick-Off and if your schedule allows, be a member of the Strategic Leadership Team.

For security purposes at the Federal Reserve Bank, please rsvp to Agnes Chang (agnes.chang@cityofboston.gov or (617) 635-1960) by Friday, October 10.

MESSAGE:Dear Elections Officer I need your help. I am currently studying mayoral elections and a colleague suggested I look at how much each candidate spent on their election. Press reports from several municipal elections indicate that some cities collect this information. Do you have the final information about how much each candidate for mayor ultimately spent in the 2001 Boston primary and runoff or general election (Menino is electe)? If so I would be extremely grateful if you could tell me where on your web sight this information is posted or email the information to me if that is easier. Thank you four your assistance. SUBJECT:Investigation

MESSAGE: Hi, my name is Jose Morton, and I am a former volunteer for different Boston community centers. I have been busy trying to find employment for myself, which is why it took me so long to write this email. I think that the workers from the Boston Center for Youth and Families should be investigated. All the workers, want is a chack. They do not care about kids. I have heard a numerous amount of youth workers and street workers say that if they didn't have kids they would quit. Richie Grey at the Grove Hall Community Center. He does not like me. For the simple fact that he has done a lot of bad things to me and I still continue to kill them with kindness. Bree the street worker has said in front of kids that she doesn't like me, and that I am a bad influence on kids. Which is toatally false. If I was a bad influence, no kid in the city of Boston would play for any of the teams that I coach. Richie Grey Broke a bone in my wrist, a couple of summers ago. I know the Mayor of Boston didn't know about that incident. I think the Mayor needs to be filled in on what is happening in and around the Boston community centers, because I know he doesn't know about the things that go on in the centers. There is going to be an incident one day were the mayor is going to have to get involved. So it is best that he get in there and investigate some of the Directors, the youth workers, and the street workers. There are some many workers who have gotten comfortable in there job and they don't want young ambitious people like me, who is popular with the youth a chance to get a job. They say I don't have enough experience, which is totally false, I have been working with youth since I was 17 years old. The B.N.B.L. situations needs to be headed by someone else, who is not bias. Woodley Auguste is the worst B.N.B.L. director I have ever encountered in my 10 plus year of coaching B.N.B.L. This year was the worst year ever. I repeatedly call him with complaints all summer that went undressed. He continuously lost my paper work for B.N.B.L. I had to fill out paper work all summer, after I gave it to him before the season started. He lost it and said I had to fill it out again. Then you have the Refs that are bias. The ref Tan is from Mission and he refed our games all summer, which means he scouted our team and went back to the mission coaches and basically told them how to stop us. The whole community center things is dirty and bias and should be investigated. At one point I wanted to work for the Boston Center for Youth and Families, but now I wouldn't dare dream of appling for one of those jobs because of all the dirtiness going on in and around the centers. I am a very concerned about what is going to happen to some of our youth because of the stupid workers that work in the centers. There are some youth that are played favorites with. Some of the workers just continue to play favorites with kids. Richie Grey got in an argument with Tony Turner one night, when I asked if i could run some drills with kids. Tony said yes, and Richie started arguing with Tony. The gym was empty and I asked if I could do it and Tony said yes. This was sometime ago, but I just thought I should mention it. Now that Tony Turner is not at the Grove Hall Community Center, Richie lets another volunteer have all the practice time and drill times that he wants. But when I ask its a problem. I will no longer volunteer for the Boston Center for Youth and Families, ever again. Every chance I get I am going to make sure that youth know that the Boston Centers for Youth and Families is not the place to go. Woodley Auguste, Richie Grey, and Bree Mcdanials, is part of the problem. There are some workers that really care about the youth, like Tony Turner. He is one of the workers who really care about kids. He doesn't make that much money and he's always there to open the doors for the kids. Richie just leaves him there by himself. One day Richie Left me there by mysel, with the youth, and the kids were trying to break into the vending machine, I told the kids not to do that, because they could get Richie in trouble if they broke it. They stopped immediatley. If anyone cares to contact me you can reach me at 617-445-2389. I think it is really important that someone get back to me. I am still fuming mad and was thinking about filing a lawsuit against the city, espeacially about my broken wrist. I still have x-rays of my wrist and my doctor papers. So I would really appreciate a call.

Herald endorses McCain

The Boston Herald endorsed Republican John McCain for president on Tuesday.

The Herald pointed to several reasons why it chose the Arizonan over Democratic nominee Barack Obama, but, ultimately, focused on McCain's experience.

"Being commander in chief isn't the place for on-the-job training," the Herald editorial reads, "it's a job for someone who has already proven his leadership skills - in battle, as a prisoner of war and during more than two decades on the floor of the Senate."

Verizon HQ Trades for $192M

A view of Boston's Post Office Square from 185 Franklin St.

By Joe Clements

BOSTON—Despite the darkening commercial real estate sales market, one of Boston's most prominent office towers has changed hands, as developer Richard A. Galvin of Southport, CT, and Kennedy Associates Real Estate Counsel of Seattle have paid $192 million to control the Verizon New England headquarters at 185 Franklin St. in the city's Financial District. Structured as a condominium, the deal for an 87.5 percent interest in the building is backed by a $70 million mortgage from the seller.

Sources had previously told New England Property Report that Verizon was intent on closing by the end of the third quarter, and the telecommunications firm did accomplish that task. The 18-story, 875,000-sf tower was initially put on the block more than a year ago, but failed to reach the seller's pricing demand. A brokerage team from CB Richard Ellis was hired in January to again peddle the art-deco style structure that served for decades as the home of New England Telephone Co. The tower has subsequently passed through various telecom mergers to its present stewardship by Verizon.

Observers say 185 Franklin St. attracted considerable interest from suitors who see the location as a key strength. "It's the best office site in Boston," claims one veteran investor familiar with the asset, which is located in the heart of the Financial District and across from the lush Post Office Square Park. Galvin is best known in Boston for his recent purchase of Channel Center in Fort Point Channel from Beacon Capital Partners for $22 million. The developer is in the midst of converting that property into a mixed-use complex featuring housing, office and retail space. Kennedy Associates is a nationally known real estate investment advisor whose Washington, D.C. office oversees investments in the northeast and New England. Kennedy's client is reportedly a California investment fund.

Billy, I was wondering if you could make an inquiry for us here at the BHA. The Ameresco Corporation has been negotiating a financial agreement with the Bank of America[Jim Thoma] for several months now. I was hoping maybe you could be of some assistance in helping to bring the discussions to closure. At stake for us at the BHA, and more importantly for our residents, is approximately $60,000,000 in badly needed capital improvements for our public housing communities here in Boston. Anything you might be able to do to help would be much appreciated. Billy

New "Bikes Stop" marking in Portland, Oregon

Highlights

- Community Supports Boylston St. Redesign ([Boston Courant \[pdf\]](#))

The Boston Transportation Department (BTD) has the green light to finalize plans for the redesign of Boylston Street in the Fenway. The plans, which BTD has been developing with the community for 11 months, includes bike lanes, sidewalk and street realignment, and a new road connecting Boylston Street to Beacon Street. A crowd of approximately 50 gathered to hear BTD's proposal at a public meeting last Wednesday.

- MassHighway set to begin Commonwealth Avenue beautification (Allston-Brighton TAB)

MassHighway cleared the final hurdle earlier this month to begin $12 million in renovations and beautification to Commonwealth Avenue, paving the way for a more scenic and less bumpy ride down one of the city's main roads. The project aims to improve a 1.7-mile stretch of the road between Warren/Kelton and Lake streets, and is similar to the recently completed renovations to Commonwealth Ave. along Boston University's campus, according to Nick Martin, a spokesperson for Mayor Thomas Menino.

- Cyclists pedal into arms of the law (Boston Globe)

- Cambridge riders find rules of road apply to them too

- By Michael Levenson -- He looked as carefree as can be, pedaling on his silver 18-speed mountain bike, wearing designer jeans and a black sport coat, a butterscotch leather handbag in his bicycle rack. He had no idea that two Cambridge police officers were watching him from the side of the road with pads of tickets in their hands, waiting for him to break the law.

- Call made for Big Dig burden to be shared (Boston Globe)

- By Andrea Estes -- Lawmakers from Boston's western suburbs yesterday called for an increase in the state's gas tax or new tolls on the Central Artery to stabilize state transportation budgets and take some of the burden off Massachusetts Turnpike commuters, who once again are facing big toll increases to pay for the Big Dig. "We have to look at everything," said Representative David Linsky, a Democrat from Natick. "If the gas tax were raised 3 or 4 cents per gallon, we could eliminate the tolls on the Massachusetts Turnpike."

- Cities rethinking '50s-era parking standards (MSNBC)

- Will forgoing parking lead to transit-friendly development or headaches?

- WASHINGTON -- Alice and Jeff Speck didn't have a car and didn't want one. But District of Columbia zoning regulations required them to carve out a place to park one at the house they were building. It would have eaten up precious space on their odd-shaped lot and marred the aesthetics of their neighborhood, dominated by historic row houses. The Specks succeeded in getting a waiver, even though it took nine months.

- The Truth About Cars, the Potential of Cities (WorldChanging)

- By Alex Steffen -- From the author: Today's cars are costly, dangerous and an ecological nightmare. What if the solution to the problems they create, though, has more to do with where we live than what we drive? This is a rough draft of a long essay about why I believe building compact communities should be one of America's highest environmental priorities, and why, in fact, our obsession with building greener cars may be obscuring some fundamental aspects of the problem and some of the benefits of using land-use change as a primary sustainability solution.

MESSAGE: Hi, my name is Jose Morton, and I am a former volunteer for different Boston community centers. I have been busy trying to find employment for myself, which is why it took me so long to write this email. I think that the workers from the Boston Center for Youth and Families should be investigated. All the workers, want is a chack. They do not care about kids. I have heard a numerous amount of youth workers and street workers say that if they didn't have kids they would quit. Richie Grey at the Grove Hall Community Center. He does not like me. For the simple fact that he has done a lot of bad things to me and I still continue to kill them with kindness. Bree the street worker has said in front of kids that she doesn't like me, and that I am a bad influence on kids. Which is toatally false. If I was a bad influence, no kid in the city of Boston would play for any of the teams that I coach. Richie Grey Broke a bone in my wrist, a couple of summers ago. I know the Mayor of Boston didn't know about that incident. I think the Mayor needs to be filled in on what is happening in and around the Boston community centers, because I know he doesn't know about the things that go on in the centers. There is going to be an incident one day were the mayor is going to have to get involved. So it is best that he get in there and investigate some of the Directors, the youth workers, and the street workers. There are some many workers who have gotten comfortable in there job and they don't want young ambitious people like me, who is popular with the youth a chance to get a job. They say I don't have enough experience, which is totally false, I have been working with youth since I was 17 years old. The B.N.B.L. situations needs to be headed by someone else, who is not bias. Woodley Auguste is the worst B.N.B.L. director I have ever encountered in my 10 plus year of coaching B.N.B.L. This year was the worst year ever. I repeatedly call him with complaints all summer that went undressed. He continuously lost my paper work for B.N.B.L. I had to fill out paper work all summer, after I gave it to him before the season started. He lost it and said I had to fill it out again. Then you have the Refs that are bias. The ref Tan is from Mission and he refed our games all summer, which means he scouted our team and went back to the mission coaches and basically told them how to stop us. The whole community center things is dirty and bias and should be investigated. At one point I wanted to work for the Boston Center for Youth and Families, but now I wouldn't dare dream of applying for one of those jobs because of all the dirtiness going on in and around the centers. I am very concerned about what is going to happen to some of our youth because of the stupid workers that work in the centers. There are some youth that are played favorites with. Some of the workers just continue to play favorites with kids. Richie Grey got in an argument with Tony Turner one night, when I asked if i could run some drills with kids. Tony said yes, and Richie started arguing with Tony. The gym was empty and I asked if I could do it and Tony said yes. This was sometime ago, but I just thought I should mention it. Now that Tony Turner is not at the Grove Hall Community Center, Richie lets another volunteer have all the practice time and drill times that he wants. But when I ask its a problem. I will no longer volunteer for the Boston Center for Youth and Families, ever again. Every chance I get I am going to make sure that youth know that the Boston Centers for Youth and Families is not the place to go. Woodley Auguste, Richie Grey, and Bree Mcdanials, is part of the problem. There are some workers that really care about the youth, like Tony Turner. He is one of the workers who really care about kids. He doesn't make that much money and he's always there to open the doors for the kids. Richie just leaves him there by himself. One day Richie Left me there by myself, with the youth, and the kids were trying to break into the vending machine, I told the kids not to do that, because they could get Richie in trouble if they broke it. They stopped immediately. If anyone cares to contact me you can reach me at 617-445-2389. I think it is really important that someone get back to me. I am still fuming mad and was thinking about filing a lawsuit against the city, especially about my broken wrist. I still have x-rays of my wrist and my doctor papers. So I would really appreciate a call.

Beatty: I have a history of predicting terrorism

If Jeff Beatty were in the Senate back in 2001, he said, the terrorist attacks on September 11 may have never happened.

Beatty, the Republican challenging U.S. Sen. John Kerry this year, said in an interview with PolitickerMA.com that he knew attacks were coming. Had he had the influence of a U.S. senator, he said, he could have been more influential in preventing them.

In this second story on Beatty's career and U.S. Senate candidacy, Beatty discusses his brief stint as an FBI agent and career as an operative for the CIA. Those roles led to work in the private sector as counterterrorism consultant where, according to Beatty, he predicted both the 1996 Olympic bombing and that U.S. commercial airplanes would be hijacked by terrorists and used as weapons.

Any thoughts?

Jeremy
